

GENEVA MOTOR SHOW 2015 INTRODUCING THE RANGE ROVER SPORT 400-LE

Project Kahn will exhibit its latest bespoke Range Rover Sport, the 400-LE Luxury Edition, at this year's Geneva Motor Show on Stand 6338, Hall 6.

Personally overseen by Afzal Kahn, the Range Rover Sport 400-LE has been given the full Project Kahn treatment, from stylish exterior enhancements to a luxurious and well-appointed interior.

On the outside, the car has been given a colour change to Volcanic Rock Satin, with a floating roof in Piano Black and Piano Black detailing to the bonnet vent and side vent surrounds.

The 400-LE boasts redesigned front and rear bumper assemblies formed in lightweight carbon composite with carbon fibre detailing, alongside a matching front grille with 3D mesh and floating insert in carbon fibre. To the rear, a custom stainless steel crosshair exhaust system with carbon fibre exhaust diffuser, and boot lid interior trim in carbon fibre complete the aesthetic enhancements.

The lightweight wheels are part of a collection specifically designed for the Range Rover, and show off the gold painted brake calipers and low profile tyres.

Hidden from view by the dark tinted privacy glass, the entire interior has been reimagined, with front and rear seats in quilted and perforated herringbone black leather, hand stretched and stitched in Project Kahn's British trim shop.

The theme continues to the fully reupholstered dashboard, centre glovebox, door tops, door armrests, steering wheel hub and instrument binnacle.

The bespoke leatherwork is complemented by custom door entry sill plates in stainless steel and machined aluminium foot pedals.

Discreet Kahn branding completes the package and leaves no-one in any doubt as to the source of this elegant functional design and meticulous attention to detail. You will never look at a Range Rover Sport in the same way again.

As with all vehicles offered by Project Kahn, the Range Rover Sport 400-LE can be tailored to a customer's precise specification. The exterior styling components and enhancements, interior seating, components and trim and the lightweight alloy wheels are also available for purchase separately.

The Range Rover Sport 400-LE is available from £79,875 (UK Retail Price)

The vehicle as presented at Geneva is priced at £94,875 (UK Retail Price)
